LEAVE POLICIES:

Annual Leave & Encashment of Annual Leave

(Article 75, 76 & 77 of UAE Federal Law No. 8 of the year 1980)

As per Article 75 and company policy, all employees (except Helpers) are eligible for 30 days paid leave after completion of 12 months (365 days) from the date of joining (in case of first leave) or 12 months after resumption of last annual leave.

As per Article 76, the employer may determine the date of the commencement of the annual leave, and may divide it, if necessary, into two or more parts. As in some cases, 30 days consecutive leave is not possible owing to the nature of the Group's business, in those cases the option of splitting leave into two or more portions is a possibility.

As per Article 77, the holidays set by law or by agreement, or any other leaves caused by illness should it occur during such holiday shall be included in the annual leave and deemed a part thereof. Holidays occurring during the leave duration will not be paid separately and will be considered part of paid annual leaves.

No employee will be allowed to proceed on leave for more than 30 days at a time. The employee cannot accumulate more than 35 days of leave. In case of leave accumulation reaches 35 days at any given point then that employee must apply for local leave, international leave in coordination with your Head of Department or apply for leave encashment of maximum 15 days once in a year to make sure the leave balance does not exceed 35 days. The employee can take 15 days of leave encashment and 15 days of leave/travel in the same year as an option. If no action is taken to reduce your leave balance from 35 days, then on every June 30th any days above 30 days will lapse and will not be available to be used anymore.

A total accumulation of 30 days may be carried forward per calendar year (1st July to June 30th)

Only the Helpers are eligible for 60 days paid leave after successful completion of 24 months from the date of joining or 24 months from the return of the last annual leave. No employee will be allowed to proceed on leave for more than 60 days at a time. Helpers cannot accumulate more than 65 days of leave balance. In case leave accumulation exceeds this limit then that employee has to compulsory take local leave, international leave or apply for 15 days of leave encashment once every two years to make sure the leave balance does not exceed 65 days.

Jacky's Group would like each employee to take a minimum of 15 days' leave per year, hence a maximum encashment of 15 days in a year will be allowed.

Leave scenarios:

- If employees are travelling for their annual leave on/or end of working day and due to that if they leave office after working only few hours or half day, then the other half of the day will be deducted from their annual leave balance. Moreover, this needs to be informed to HR department and their HOD before leaving the office. Currently, we have observed some employees come to work and leave office after few hours because they have a flight to catch on the same day and this is also done without HR department's knowledge or consent.
- If employees take leave for a day or more / absenteeism right before public holidays and if their approved annual leaves are starting right after public holidays, then the entire period will be deducted from their annual leave balance. Currently, we receive such queries or requests before each public holiday by some employees that if one day or more can be taken as annual leave before public holidays and continue their annual leave after finishing public holidays period to take advantage of additional days. For e.g. If public holidays start from Saturday and ends on Tuesday, then if any employee takes leave on Friday and their actual annual leave request is approved from Wednesday then the entire period from Friday to Tuesday will also be deducted from their annual leave balance.
- Similarly, we have also received requests if an employee taking leave right after public holidays and returning on the following weekend then the entire period from end of public holidays till resumption of duty will be considered as annual leave. For e.g. If public holidays start from Saturday and ends on Wednesday; if employees applied for annual leave on Thursday and Friday thinking that other two days (Saturday/Sunday) are weekend but in this case Thursday till Sunday will be considered part of annual leaves as work will be commenced from Monday only.
- We have also observed that employees take annual leave which ends on Friday and assume that Saturday/Sunday are weekends hence it will be paid. Please note in order to get a paid weekend we must work minimum 2 days prior to weekend or work three days in a week, which can be 2 days before short leave and one day after short leave. For e.g. If someone works on Monday, Tuesday and takes local leave or travels for Wednesday/Thursday then employee must work on Friday to get Saturday and Sunday as a paid weekend. If an employee returns from annual leave, then at least Thursday & Friday should be working before expecting Saturday/Sunday to be paid weekend.

- If an employee takes one day leave to combine with the weekend, then it will be only considered a day leave instead of deducting the leave balance provided employee worked 5 days (If an employee works 6 days a week) in a week and 4 days a week (In case an employee works 5 days a week) will resume on the first working day after the weekend. For e.g. If an employee takes leave on Friday and resumes on Monday, then only one day will be deducted from their leave. Similarly, they can take one day leave on Monday to have a long weekend from Saturday to Monday.
- In the case of retail outlet staff, comp off can't be combined with their annual leaves unless prior approval is taken from HR as an exception and it will be approved on a case-to-case basis. Also, once outlet employees return to work, they need to work 6 days in order to get their day off unless approved by HR on a case-to-case basis.
- Outlet managers share their team comp off details/balance on monthly basis to HR team in order to get approval on their comp off balance and maintain their Comp off record. For further details please refer to the revised Comp off policy of September 2023.

Excused /Casual Leave

Jacky's office employees are eligible to avail off from their duty for the following occasions & these will be treated as Excused / Casual Leaves and will be paid for as per Jacky's policy:

- Festivals namely Onam, Vishu, Christmas, Easter, Diwali & other prominent religious festivals – Two half working days maximum in a calendar year (Jan to December).

The above-mentioned Excused/ Casual Leaves should be applied in advance to the Head of your Department as not all team members in one department can be absent from work at the same time. Once approved, an employee must inform the HR department in advance by email for recording purposes. If any employee fails to follow this will be marked absent and disciplinary action will be taken.
